

OFFICIAL GUIDE

ON THE USE OF THE

TRADEMARK

PREPARED BY

INTERTRIBAL AGRICULTURE COUNCIL

HELLO!

Thank you for your interest in the MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design. The Intertribal Agriculture Council (“IAC”) has prepared this booklet to serve as a guide for Indian Tribes and Tribal members on the use and administration of this trademark. We’ve also included a trademark application form for your convenience.

The MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design has been approved for use on Indian-made products by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (“USPTO”). This trademark certifies that the goods provided have been produced by members of federally recognized Native American Tribes. The MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design is a unique symbol of the culture, tradition, and pride that American Indian products represent. We hope you’ll take advantage of this valuable opportunity to put the trademark to work for you on your products or services. The trademark will benefit you, your Tribe, and all of Indian Country!

Because this is a new trademark and a new experience for us, we want you to know there will undoubtedly be changes along the way. We hope you’ll be patient as well as supportive of any changes that occur in the future. As an example, currently there is not a licensing fee associated with the use of the trademark, and this may change at some point in the future as costs increase.

Initially, the trademark is registered in three categories. As use increases into other areas, and market testing is completed, other categories will be added as needed.

Thank you again, and we look forward to seeing your products displaying the MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design.

INTERTRIBAL AGRICULTURE COUNCIL

INTRODUCTION

TRADEMARK PURPOSE

According to the United States Department of Commerce, perhaps as much as 20% of the estimated $1 billion spent annually on Indian cultural goods is spent on fake Indian products. The “Made/ Produced by American Indians” trademark is specifically registered to protect Indian producers and the consumer from these imitation products. This trademark denoting American Indian products will assist American Indian producers to improve their market share, thereby increasing the economic base of the Indian producer and their community. Through this universal emblem, consumers will finally be able to easily identify authentic American Indian produced goods.

This trademark is for all federally recognized American Indian people or Native Alaskan Villages to use on their products, whatever they might be, as a certification of the authenticity of the “Native” or “Indian” made products they sell.

The MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design should also serve as an expression of the tradition, culture, and pride found in Indian Country for the Native American products that proudly display this emblem to improve product recognition.

Through the increased use by Indian producers and a heightened awareness of the meaning of this trademark by the consumer, Native American people will begin to realize a larger market share and value of the limited Native American products.

BACKGROUND

In 1991, the Intertribal Agriculture Council, on direction from member Tribes, undertook the research, development, and registration of this trademark, funded in part through an Administration for Native Americans (“ANA”) grant. The IAC conducted a national contest for design of the mark, and in August 1991, the design – created by Virgil Marchand, an enrolled member of the Colville Confederated Tribes – was chosen. Following the selection of the design, the IAC worked through the law firm of Peacock Law P.C. in Albuquerque, New Mexico, to register the trademark for exclusive Indian use with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

In order to get the trademark design registered, the IAC had to follow required “test marketing” procedures. Fortunately, the IAC had significant help from the Indian Country. The trademark was first used on January 19, 1993, when the White Earth Reservation’s Tribal enterprise, Manitok Wild Rice test marketed the trademark. They continue to use it today on their wild rice products, wild berry jellies and syrups, and their birch bark arts and crafts.

After this early test by Manitok, Peacock Law P.C., on behalf of IAC, filed two trademark applications. A few months later, both applications were formally approved, and by the end of 2014, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office issued two certificates of registration stating that the IAC’s trademarks were granted.

Since the initial use of the trademark by Manitok, several other Tribes, Tribal enterprises, and individual Indian producers have applied to use the trademark. These applications have been reviewed and accepted, and now, the IAC is going through the administrative process to add these products to the registered category list.

REQUIREMENTS

GENERAL

The MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark may be used to promote any business that is at least 51% owned by a federally recognized Tribal Individual or Tribal Entity. The IAC has established the following requirements for use of this trademark within the approved categories and on future categories for which application is made. The requirements defined here are subject to change if problems arise, resulting from these limitations, which hurt Indian people. Also, please note that compliance with the MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design rules and use criteria does not exempt a producer, processor, retailer, or wholesaler from complying with other laws and rules relating to labeling, interstate transport, and international trade agreements. You should contact your state or federal Department of Commerce to determine if any shipping or labeling restrictions apply to your product.

AGRICULTURE & MANUFACTURING (VALUE ADDED)

1. A producer or harvester may use the MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design on an eligible product if the business or entity is at least 51% owned by a federally recognized American Indian Tribal individual or Tribal Entity.
2. Eligible commodity means any agricultural commodity or product thereof that is comprised of at least 50 percent by weight, exclusive of added water, of agricultural commodities grown or raised in the United States.

USE BY RETAILERS AND WHOLESALERS

Retailers and wholesalers are welcome to use the MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark and design for the purposes of advertising and displaying those products which have obtained the necessary approval to use the trademark. No license is needed in order to display and advertise licensed eligible products, but authority to include the trademark and labeling statement will be revoked if other than true American Indian products are advertised in such a manner, or if the display or advertisement is deemed to be misleading in identifying the products to which it applies, or in any other way is unacceptable to the IAC.

DISPLAY REQUIREMENTS

The trademark and labeling statement may be added to a licensed eligible product or display in any color or color combination. The logo may only be used in a manner that positively promotes American Indian and Alaskan Native food, agricultural, and arts & craft industry.

The distinctive MADE/PRODUCED BY AMERICAN INDIANS trademark helps consumers of the U.S. and other countries easily identify authentic American Indian produced goods.
